No. 398.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from Holland.

HE last Advices from Corsica by the Way of Genoa say, that Col. Marchelli, who with Major Morati the Corsican, cowardly abandon'd the Genoese Troops at the Red Island, when they were beat by the Rebels, is committed Prisoner to the Castle of Bastia, in order for his Trial; but that the Major who was also taken Prisoner with him made his Escape in the Way to the Castle, and fled to the Church of the Jesuits. These Advices add, that the Baron Theodore, after he stay at Porto Vecchio, set out at the Head of Men and 50 Horses for Sarzana on some secret Expedition; and that there's a great Desertion among the Genoese Troops, several Soldiers of the Garison San Fiorenzo having gone over to the Rebels, carried two Muskets each Man. 'Tis said that of Theodore's Nephews come from France, is said at Villa Franca in order to go to his Uncle Corsica.

They write from Rome, that the Difference betwixt the See and the Court of France, is in a fair way of being amicably adjusted, the Duke of St. Man the French Ambassador, being returned inognito from Fiescati to the Quirinal, where he had private Audience of the Pope, and a Conference with his Secretaries of State, and then went back to Fiescati.

A Jew has been publicly whipp'd thro' the High streets of Rome, with a Paper pinn'd to his Back containing his Crime in large Characters to be Blasphemous. A Trumpet was sounded before him, and the people followed pelting him with rotten Fruit and Sticks.

They write from Venice too, that three Blasphemers have been put in the Pillory, and had their tongues cut out for the same abominable Crime; were afterwards carried to the Gallies.

Letters from Leghorn say, that an English Ship the Dove, putting in there in her Way to Civita Vecchia, the Crew rose against the Master and murdered him on the Spot; but a Boy making his Escape gave Notice of it to the Government, upon which the Ship and all the Crew were immediately seized.

The Court of Naples has received from Madrid an Act which King Carlos is to sign for renouncing Italian Dominions yielded to the Emperor. At the same time the Duke de Montemar has received from Vienna the Copy of the Act, whereby his Imperial Majesty yields and renounces the Kingdoms of Sicily and Sicily, and the State del Presidii in favour of King Carlos; which Act being conformable to the final, as required by his Catholic Majesty, 'tis highly probable that the Duke de Montemar will receive final Orders from his Court for the evacuation of Tuscany: This is the rather believed, as he has published an Order at Pisa, requiring persons who have advanced Money to the Spanish Army, or that have any other Demands upon them, deliver in their Accounts forthwith, in order that they may be satisfied. The Count de Khevenhuller may be shortly to meet the Duke de Montemar at Leghorn, where they are to fix the Time for the evacuation of that Dutchy.

Cardinal Coscia is said to have made up all his Affairs with the Holy See, and is shortly expected from Rome, to make his publick Appearance there again, with all the Splendor of his Dignity; they write positively from Naples, that his Majesty has ordered a fine Livery and magnificent Pages to be made for that Purpose.

The Emperor's Commissioner who carried the Order to the King of Sardinia, for vesting him in the Duke of the Langhes, was presented by that Prince with a Purse of a Thousand Sequins; but several of the Feudataries have protested against the said Inheritance, and refused to be his Subjects.

A Privateer of Catalonia having met Ali-Cogia, a famous Pirate, near Tripoly, with Three great Ships, attacked him with so much Pravery, that a very sharp and bloody Fight, in which the Privateer and the other Captains were killed, he took one of those Gallies, and sunk another, but the Third escaped.

They write from Petersburg, that the Russian Court having received certain Advice, that an Accommodation is on Foot between the Porte and the new Sophy of Persia, and that a Peace is on the Point of being concluded between those two Powers; a grand Council has been held thereupon in the Presence of the Czarina, after which, a Courier was dispatched to Vienna, another to the Count de Munich, and a Third to Persia, in order to know if the Proposals of the said Accommodation, are not contrary to the Engagements which the Sophy has entered into with the Russian Court. The Express sent to the Count de Munich, carries an Order to the Generals of the Cossacks, and the Kans of the Tartars, who are under the Protection of Russia, to assemble all their Forces, and join the Russian Army.

A Palace is fitting up at Petersburg, for the Reception of two Ambassadors who are coming with Twenty Persons in their Retinue from the new Emperor of China, to notify to the Czarina his Accession to the Crown, and to confirm the Treaties of Friendship and Commerce concluded with the Czarina by his Predecessor. Mean time the Court of Russia designs to propose a new Treaty of Commerce with the Chinese Emperor, more extensive than the former Treaties, in which great Advantages are calculated for the Subjects of Russia.

They write from Vienna, that the Emperor seeing no Hopes of an Accommodation between the Turks and Muscovites, has sent Orders to M. Dahlman, his Minister at Constantinople, not to take up the Character of his Ambassador Extraordinary, if he has not already done it. We are assured, that the Count Seckendorff is to be Commander in chief of the Forces that are to act against the Turks; but the Season being too far advanced for any Hostilities this Year, the Imperial Court has sent Orders for their Troops in Hungary, to go into Winter Quarters.

The Duke d'Arenberg, is declar'd Commander in chief of the Imperial Forces in the Austrian Netherlands.

The Gangs of Highwaymen continue to commit so much Mischief in several Parts of the Empire, by Murders, Robberies and burning of Houses, &c. that the Courts of Hanover, Hesse Cassel, the Elector of Cologne, the Bishops of Paderbourn, Munster, and Osnaburg, and the Counts of Lippe Dittenelt and Buckebourg, have concluded a Convention whereby each State engages to furnish a certain Number of Troops, for pursuing and dispersing those Vagabonds.

They write from Berlin, that a fine Palace is building at Cossenblat, near Wusterhausen, for Prince William, second Son to the King of Prussia. The Sieur Angeau, a very famous Painter of that Country, has had the Honour to be introduced to the Queen of Prussia, and to present her with a Picture of his Britannick Majesty in Miniature, with which her Majesty was so well pleased that she kept it, gave the Painter a handsome Reward, and assured him of the Honour of her Protection.

L O N D O N.

On Monday the 15th Inst. died at Rotterdam, in the 70th Year of his Age, Robert Pringle, Esq; (Fourth Son to Sir Robert Pringle of Stirling, Bart. and Uncle to the present Sir Robert) in his Return to England from the Spaw, where he had been this Season drinking the Waters for the Recovery of his Health.

Mr. Pringle was a Student at Leyden about the Time of the Revolution, when he came over with the Prince of Orange with a Commission in his Army; which, on the Settlement, he laid down, and after returning to his interrupted Study of Law, entered Advocate: He soon left the Bar, and being made Deputy Secretary for Scotland, attended King William in all his Campaigns, as Minister for Scottish Affairs Abroad; since that Time he enjoyed Posts of considerable Trust and Honour, being successively Clerk to the Privy Council of Scotland, Secretary to the first Commission of Union, Under Secretary for England, one of the Commissioners of Customs for England, and Secretary at War for Great Britain; in which high Office, tho' he continued but a short Time, yet by his Affability, quickness in dispatching Business, and Contempt of Money, he gain'd the universal Love and Applause of the Officers of the Army; he died Register General of the Shipping, an Office he held for Life.

He was a Gentleman of Learning, of excellent Parts and Judgment, of singular Generosity and unbounded Humanity, of which he gave known Proofs in the Year 1715 and 1716 to his unhappy Countrymen, who were involved in the Troubles of those Times, during which, he acted in Quality of sole Secretary for Scotland; in his Manner and Conversation, appeared greater than Wit and Humour, an unaffected Agreeableness, the happy Result of an easy and cheerful Temper, and a lively Imagination, join'd with good Sense, and a thorough Knowledge of the World. And to conclude with the most noble and rare Part of a publick Character, amidst the Temptations of a Court, he was a Man of unsuspected, as well as of uncorrupted Honesty and Truth.

In the latter Years of his Life, he lived much retired from the World. He was married to the Honourable Mrs. Christian Sandilands, Sister to the Right Honourable the Lord Torphichen, by whom he has left one Son, a Counsellor at Law in Westminster.

They write from Glasgow, that last Thursday Se'nnight Caldwell the Defector, who was suspected to have robbed the Glasgow Mail, was apprehended near Stirling Bridge, and after Examination by the Magistrates, to whom he had confessed the Robbery, and discovered his Accomplice, was committed to close Prison. He had been apprehended the Week before near Coupar in Fife; but he made his Escape. There's a Warrant gone to Stirling to fetch him to Edinburgh to take his Trial. The Bag with the Letters was brought to Edinburgh Yesterday Se'nnight in the Morning, being found bury'd in the Earth, within a Mile and half of Glasgow.

Several of the Criminals who escap'd from Edinburgh Gaol, by favour of the late Mob, such as Millar for Horse stealing, Sydie for Theft, &c. are re-taken.

Thursday Se'nnight last the following Gentlemen, all well affected to his Majesty's Person and Government, were chose Magistrates of the Burgh of Dundee for the Year ensuing, viz. Andrew Wardroper, Esq; Provost; George Lyon, John Donaldson, and John Jobson and John Barclay, Bailies; Patrick Hay, Dean of Guild, and William Millar, Treasurer.

A Coal-grieve, as they call the Colliers in Scotland, was lately robbed of 40 s. Sterling betwixt Gilmerton and Goodtrees, by 2 Men on Horse back well dress'd, who afterwards civilly convoy'd him the Length of Lasswade, and then bid him Farewell: He thank'd 'em, but said he'd fare the better, would they condescend to return him his Money.

The Royal Regiment of Gray Dragoons was expected this Day Se'nnight at Dalkeith, Musselburg, &c. and the Regiment of Dragoons commanded by Lieutenant General Gore, is said to be also drawing near the City of Edinburgh, where ever since the Night of the late Riot, they have enjoy'd the profoundest Quiet.

Last Wednesday Thomas Johnson and Simeon Waller, Esqrs; were sworn Sheriffs of the City and County of Norwich for the Year ensuing, after which they treated their Friends in the most elegant Manner.

The same Night several People made themselves very merry on the Death of Madam Giz, and some of both Sexes got soundly drunk at her Funeral, for which the Mob made a formal Procession with Torches, but committed no Outrages.

Last Wednesday one John Maclean, a Scotsman, was brought by Habeas Corpus from Sandwich Gaol to that near Canterbury, charged on the Oaths of Edward Marshal, John Godden, and Stephen Mockett, three Officers of his Majesty's Customs, with assaulting them in the Execution of their Office, and endeavouring to rescue several Parcels of Tea which they had seized and taken from the said Scotsman.

Two notorious Horse-stealers, viz. Thomas Ellington and William Groves, who lately received Sentence of Death at Reading, but had the good Luck to be reprieved in order for Transportation, and being shortly to be shipped off at Bristol for the Plantations in America, have thought it convenient to equip themselves with a little Money before their Departure; to that Purpose, they have wrote circular Letters to many Persons in different Counties, to let them know, on the Payment of Five Shillings for every Horse, where they are to be met with, who by that Means have had them again, except several whose Horses are so remote in distant Counties, they have not thought it worth while to see after them; but as they have in a Letter to a Farmer near Bristol, (from whom they stole a Horse, and sold him in the County of Cornwall) mention'd their stealing two Horses from Mr. Harmer in Temple street, and a Sorrel Mare and a Black Colt about 15 Hands high, from a Ground at Stokes Croft, about 9 Months since, the Property of Mr. Parmiter, they have accordingly had Notice thereof. Those Fellows confess they followed their Business to industriously, that they have stolen Forty Horses in a Fortnight, in Company with one Thomas Jones, who they call their Master, and well known by the Name of the Old Quaker; he affected the Manner, Dress and Stile of the People of that Profession, by which Hypocrisy, the Unwary, the more readily bought his stolen Horses; but what is the most remarkable of him, he turn'd Evidence against his two Servants Ellington and Groves, on their being all three apprehended in Berkshire; and as they received Sentence of Death, he was discharged; but immediately following his old Trade, he was again apprehended and committed to Chelmsford Goal in Essex, and executed there the 18th of Aug. last.

Last Thursday Pawlett St. John, of Farley, in the County of Southampton, Esq; was married to Dame Mary Tynte, Relict of Sir Haswell Tynte, at Nempner, in the County of Somerset; the Ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. William Symes, her Ladyship's Chaplain.

The Exit of Mother Gin in Bristol, has been enough bewail'd by the Retailers and Drinkers of it; many of the latter, willing to have their Fill, and to take the last Farewel in a respectful Manner of their beloved Dame, have not scrupled to pawn and sell their very Cloaths, as the last Devoir they can pay to her Memory. It was observ'd, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, that several Retailers Shops were well crowded, some tripping on the Spot, while others were carrying it off from a Pint to a Gallon, and one of those Shops had such a good Trade, that it put every Cask they had upon the Stoop; and the Owner with sorrowful Sighs said, Is not this a barbarous and cruel Thing, that I must not be permitted to fill them again? And pronounce'd a heavy Woe, on the Instruments of their drooping. Such has been the Lamentation, that on Wednesday Night her funeral Obsequies was perform'd with Formality in several Parishes, and some of the Votaries appeared in ragged Cloaths, some without Gowns, and others with one Stocking; but among them all, we don't hear of any that have carried their Grief so far, as to hang or drown themselves, rather chusing the drinking Part to finish their Sorrow; and accordingly a few old Women are pretty near tipping off the Perch, by sipping too large a Draught.

We hear from Bath, that Mother Gin has been lamented in that City much after the same Manner.

On Tuesday last was committed to Newgate at Bristol, Elizabeth Saunders, for stealing a Gold Watch, a large Parcel of Plate, 10l. in Gold, &c. from Mrs. Anne Walter in King-street.

We hear that the late Governor Macculloch now in Kilmainham Gaol in Ireland, pretends to be one of the Gentlemen of his Majesty's Privy Chamber in England: If this can be true, 'tis suppos'd he will not long continue so.
